

Rebecca Yee

Rebecca Yee is the National Director/Senior EEO Counsel of Screen Actors Guild Affirmative Action & Diversity. Rebecca advances SAG's policy and advocacy of diversity, equal employment, and non-discrimination in the entertainment industry. She oversees EEO/ADA compliance, enforcement and education of all SAG nondiscrimination contract provisions while monitoring the casting and hiring practices of SAG employers. Rebecca leads a team that provides strategy, support, advice and counsel, technical and administrative assistance to six member-led national committees (Ethnic Employment Opportunities, Women, LGBT Actors, Performers With Disabilities, Senior Performers and Task Force for American Indians) in developing and implementing programs and initiatives designed to increase employment opportunities for underrepresented and underemployed groups.

Rebecca joined SAG in 2005 as counsel in the legal department, where she worked closely with the affirmative action & diversity department on discrimination, harassment and accessibility/accommodations claims. Prior to joining the Guild, she worked as an employment and community economic development attorney with Neighborhood Legal Services of Los Angeles County and an associate with union-side labor law firm Gilbert & Sackman.

Rebecca received her Bachelor of Science in Psychology and Sociology from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign and her Juris Doctorate from UCLA School of Law.
